“ Dear Kelvin,

I am deeply saddened to learn of your passing and express my heartfelt condolences. Despite the unfortunate loss of contact between us, please know that my love for you has always remained strong. You were a remarkable individual, a dedicated father, and a person of great character.

I deeply regret that we were unable to maintain our connection and that I was not present for you during your time of need. My heart aches with the realization that I must now bid you farewell. I sincerely hope that your struggles have found resolution and that you have found peace in the presence of the Almighty. You truly deserve to be welcomed into His embrace.

As I reflect on our past conversations, they vividly resurface in my mind, making it challenging to think clearly. The cherished memories we shared will forever hold a special place in my heart.

I am deeply sorry for not being aware of your passing until now. Please accept my sincere apologies.

With deepest sympathy,

I Love You Always
